Dedication

The 1980 North Yarmouth Academy Yearbook is dedicated to George R. Dunn alias Senor Jorge. His jovial attitude towards what he pursues adds a positive note in the lives he touches. His dedication to his students far exceeds that which is expected of a teacher. He carries this same enthusiasm in all his endeavors. Words cannot describe the enlightening spirit which he shares with all of us. He came as a stranger and leaves as a friend to all.

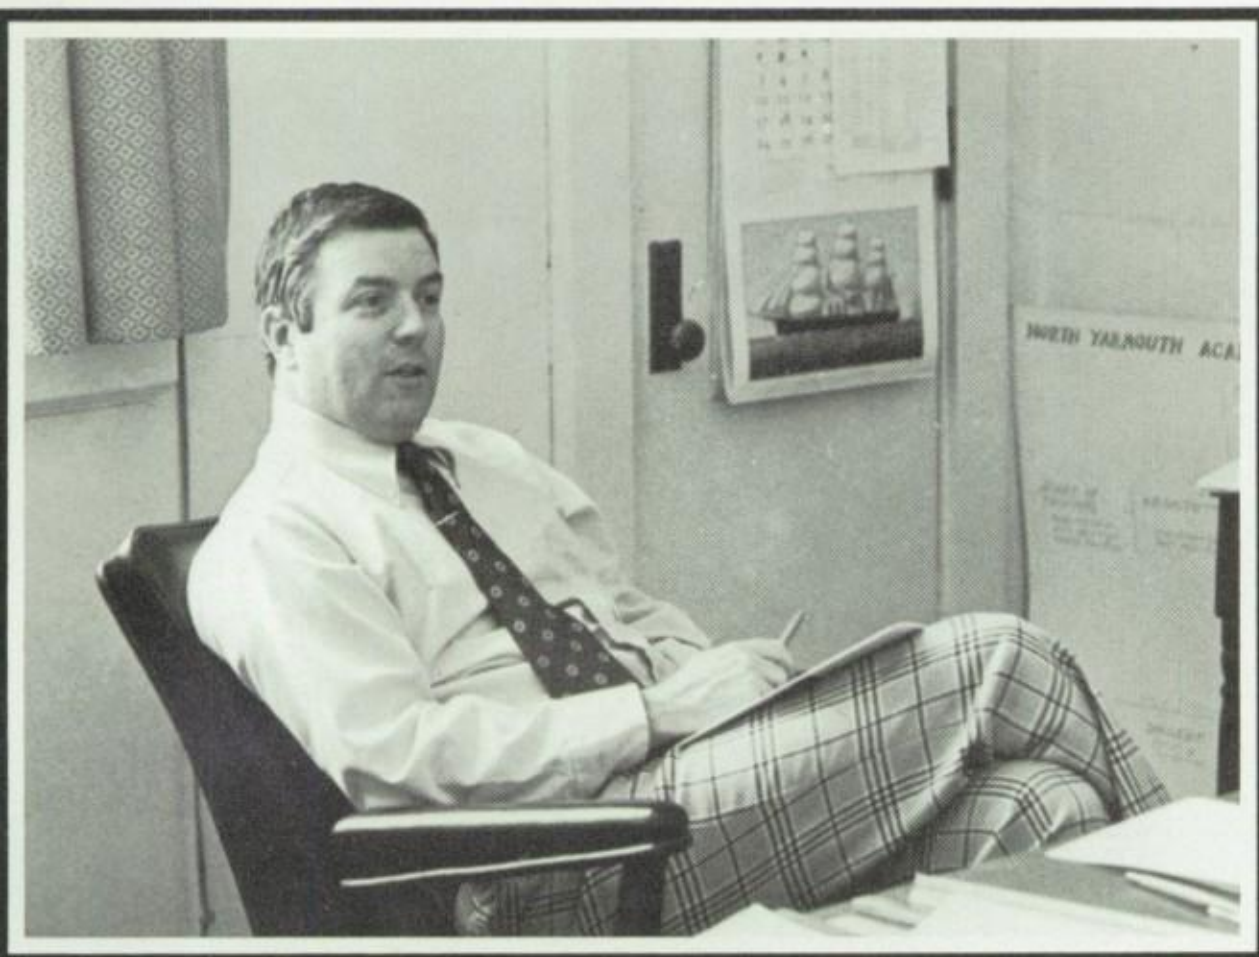

Thank you, Mr. Dunn, for all you have done for us, and good luck in all you pursue; we will miss you.

He Reflects . . .

Yesterday was the apex of my year at NYA. They say good things come in threes, but I will go one better:

1. The sincere reading by Amy Richardson touched my heart with love and gave me a lump in my throat and a surprise at the dedication.
2. The standing ovation of every student in the church brought tears to my eyes.
3. The congratulations of Librarian, Winnie Burnham, when she informed me that never in the history of NYA had a rookie teacher achieved such an honor.
4. Tears rolled down my cheeks when at home I read aloud the citation to my wife that you had awarded me.

The Headmaster's Message . . .

Your graduating class finds itself in a variety of unusual, if not unique, positions, not the least of which is the fact that you are the first Academy class to graduate in the decade of the 80's. What sweeping changes the next ten years will bring in the American way of life are impossible to predict at this time, but to you, in large part, as mid-decade college graduates, will be given the challenge of drawing the blueprint for the future of this country. Within the decade, some questions that have never before even been asked must be answered if your lives as adults are to resemble those lived by your parents: What about America's status abroad? What of the threat to the prestige of the law of nations itself? What is the solution to the danger of massive economic recession? What will be the substitute for petroleum? What should or could be done to correct the disparity between this nation's standard of living and those of other nations? Precisely what is this nation's responsibility to the other peoples of the world, anyway? None of these questions has yet been answered; and they cannot be answered by depending upon solutions that have worked in the past. Why? Simply because these problems either have never existed in the past or could safely have been ignored for a few years longer.

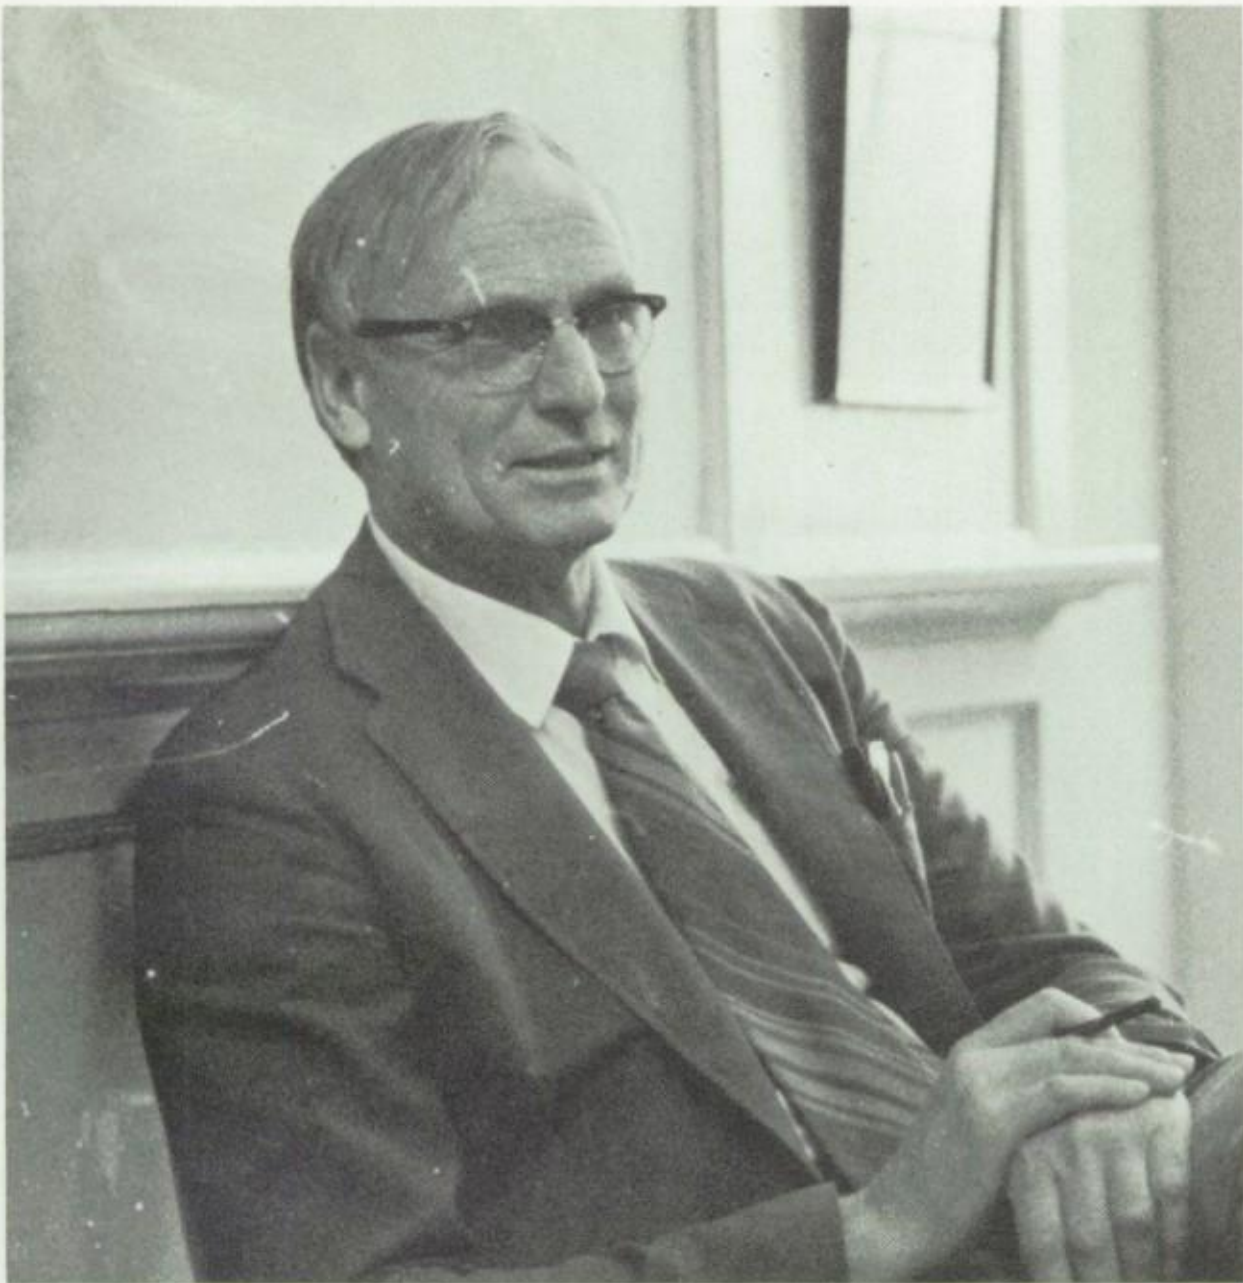

Can you meet this challenge? I think you can, and I will tell you why I think so. Although your senior year has not been marked by vast change within your school, you, as a class, have lived through a period of almost unbelievable change — especially those of you who entered the Academy as eighth or ninth graders. The fact that you have effectively adapted to significant change already and, what is more, have grown stronger as a result, says to me that you are equal to the task of addressing yourselves effectively to greater and more important decisions and adaptation in the future.

Think for a moment. The Academy is a very different place today from that which most of you entered three, four, or five years ago, and you have taken each change in stride whether it has been the increasing difficulty of your academic courses, the higher requirements for graduation, or the more challenging competitors you have met in athletics. If, in fact, your school years are the training ground for life (and I must believe that they are), then it is clear that you have had the training and the practice to identify a problem, to generate a realistic solution, and to act upon your decision.

I wish you, the members of the class of 1980, the best of luck with your futures.

1980 Senior Class Will

Win Soule — leaves a copy of the S.P.A. eligibility rules to Mr. Shepley.

John Toohey — leaves his skating speed to Don Sharaf.

Dana Twombly — Leaves his copy of "How to Dowell in math" to Mr. Martin.

Torrie Verrier — leaves her calm, easy going, personality to Lisa St. Lawrence.

Dave Winslow — leaves his pick up truck to Mr. Corwin for the Outing Club and for the "Duke" to carry left overs.

Jason Wright — leaves his leadership ability and riding shotgun on the bus to Hans Bowder.

Brian Clarke — leaves N.Y.A. with a pale neck. Less “Red Light” burns than any other goalie in N.Y.A. history.

Adriana Contartese — leaves her excuses and notes to Mr. Curtis. He will use them for “doggie papers.”

Tom Curran — leaves his kitchen job to Fran Norris — happily.

John Easton — leaves 400 quarts of his car’s transmission fluid in N.Y.A.’s driveway.

Ted Fava — leaves his autobiography, “How to make it as a Bidy Bug Hockey Player” to Mr. Anderson and Tom Dubail.

Tom Goyette — leaves his quiet behavior to Mike Edgar.

Chris Grant — leaves N.Y.A., still bearing scars of rooming with “The Hulk” in Bates House.

Jamie Hadden — leaves after graduation, still hitchhiking to Brunswick.

Jim Hazzard — leaves his love of animals to anyone willing to spend five minutes in a locked room with “Stuka.”

Jeff Jensen — leaves his “Lerch Jacket” to Bob McQueston.

Dick Johns — leaves his Bronco to Mr. Graves.

Bruce Johnson — leaves his scanner to Mr. Sewall and the scoreboard and clock to Brit O’Brian.

John Leonard — from his part time job, an electric alarm system for the school sign on the front lawn.

Ross Logan — leaves his V.W. thing for Mr. Flaherty and James Bartlett to turn into a school scout patrol jeep.

Larry McCarthy — leaves his basketball ability to Alan Grant.

Joe Norris — leaves his wisecracks to Harry Cleaves.

Mike Parker — leaves his Michigan plates, after driving an unregistered Maine vehicle for two years, to the State Police.

Ben Pratt — leaves his faulty alarm clock to an underclassman who needs an excuse for being late to school.

Pete Rouillard — leaves his love of Ginny Burgers to Matt Ambrose.

Andy Schlaack — leaves his size to Kim Luce.

Ron Seigny — didn’t leave N.Y.A. when Biddeford re-opened their rink!

Senior Class Prophecy

Brian Clarke will be the most talkative goalie in the N.H.L.

Adriana Contartese will be a talk show hostess, and break Johnny Carson's record, as having the most replacement hosts, due to illness.

Tom Curran will carpool to work with Norris and Toohey. Fran will be the chauffeur.

John Easton will still be trying to decide if he should follow Mr. Hansen's or Mr. Flaherty's political philosophies.

Ted Fava will be a "ref" in soccer and hockey, and known for his quick ejection of players who argue his calls.

Tom Goyette will still be wanting to move from Yarmouth to Massachusetts.

Chris Grant will co-star with Greg Bath in "The New Incredible Hulk." Greg Bath will play the Hulk of course.

Jamie Hadden will be an art teacher at N.Y.A. known for his far out creations.

Jim Hazzard will convert his pick up truck into a Door to Door vet service.

Jeff Jensen will still be telling Mr. Curtis that his VW Bug has a REAL Porsche Engine.

Dick Johns will be a model for afro hair styles.

Bruce Johnson will be Yarmouth Town Manager, Police Chief, Fire Chief, Rescue Chief, N.Y.A. Headmaster, etc. —

John Leonard will invent an electronic life-size doll kit like Bo Derek (10); Waning and Cleaves will be the salesmen!

Ross Logan will discover athletes and replace Larry Bird and Dave Cowens for the Celtics.

Lary McCarthy will miss the cold Maine winters and return from Hawaii, with a separated shoulder!

Joe Norris will replace the Fonz on Happy Days as the "Ultimate Cool."

Mike Parker will play Richie Cunningham in Norris' series. He will have a part-time job cleaning hockey rink boards.

Ben Pratt will be the new John Denver, but miss his bus to many big concerts.

Pete Rouillard will be a state cop patrolling the Turnpike from Kennebunk to Yarmouth. He knows the road.

Andy Schlaack will replace Evel Knievel as the #1 stunt biker, by jumping 35 cop cars, while being pursued from Brunswick.

Ron Seigny will still be telling Coach Wakelin, "I'm faster than I look — really."

Win Soule will coach N.Y.A. to its State Basketball Championship, but be declared an ineligible coach by the S.P.A.

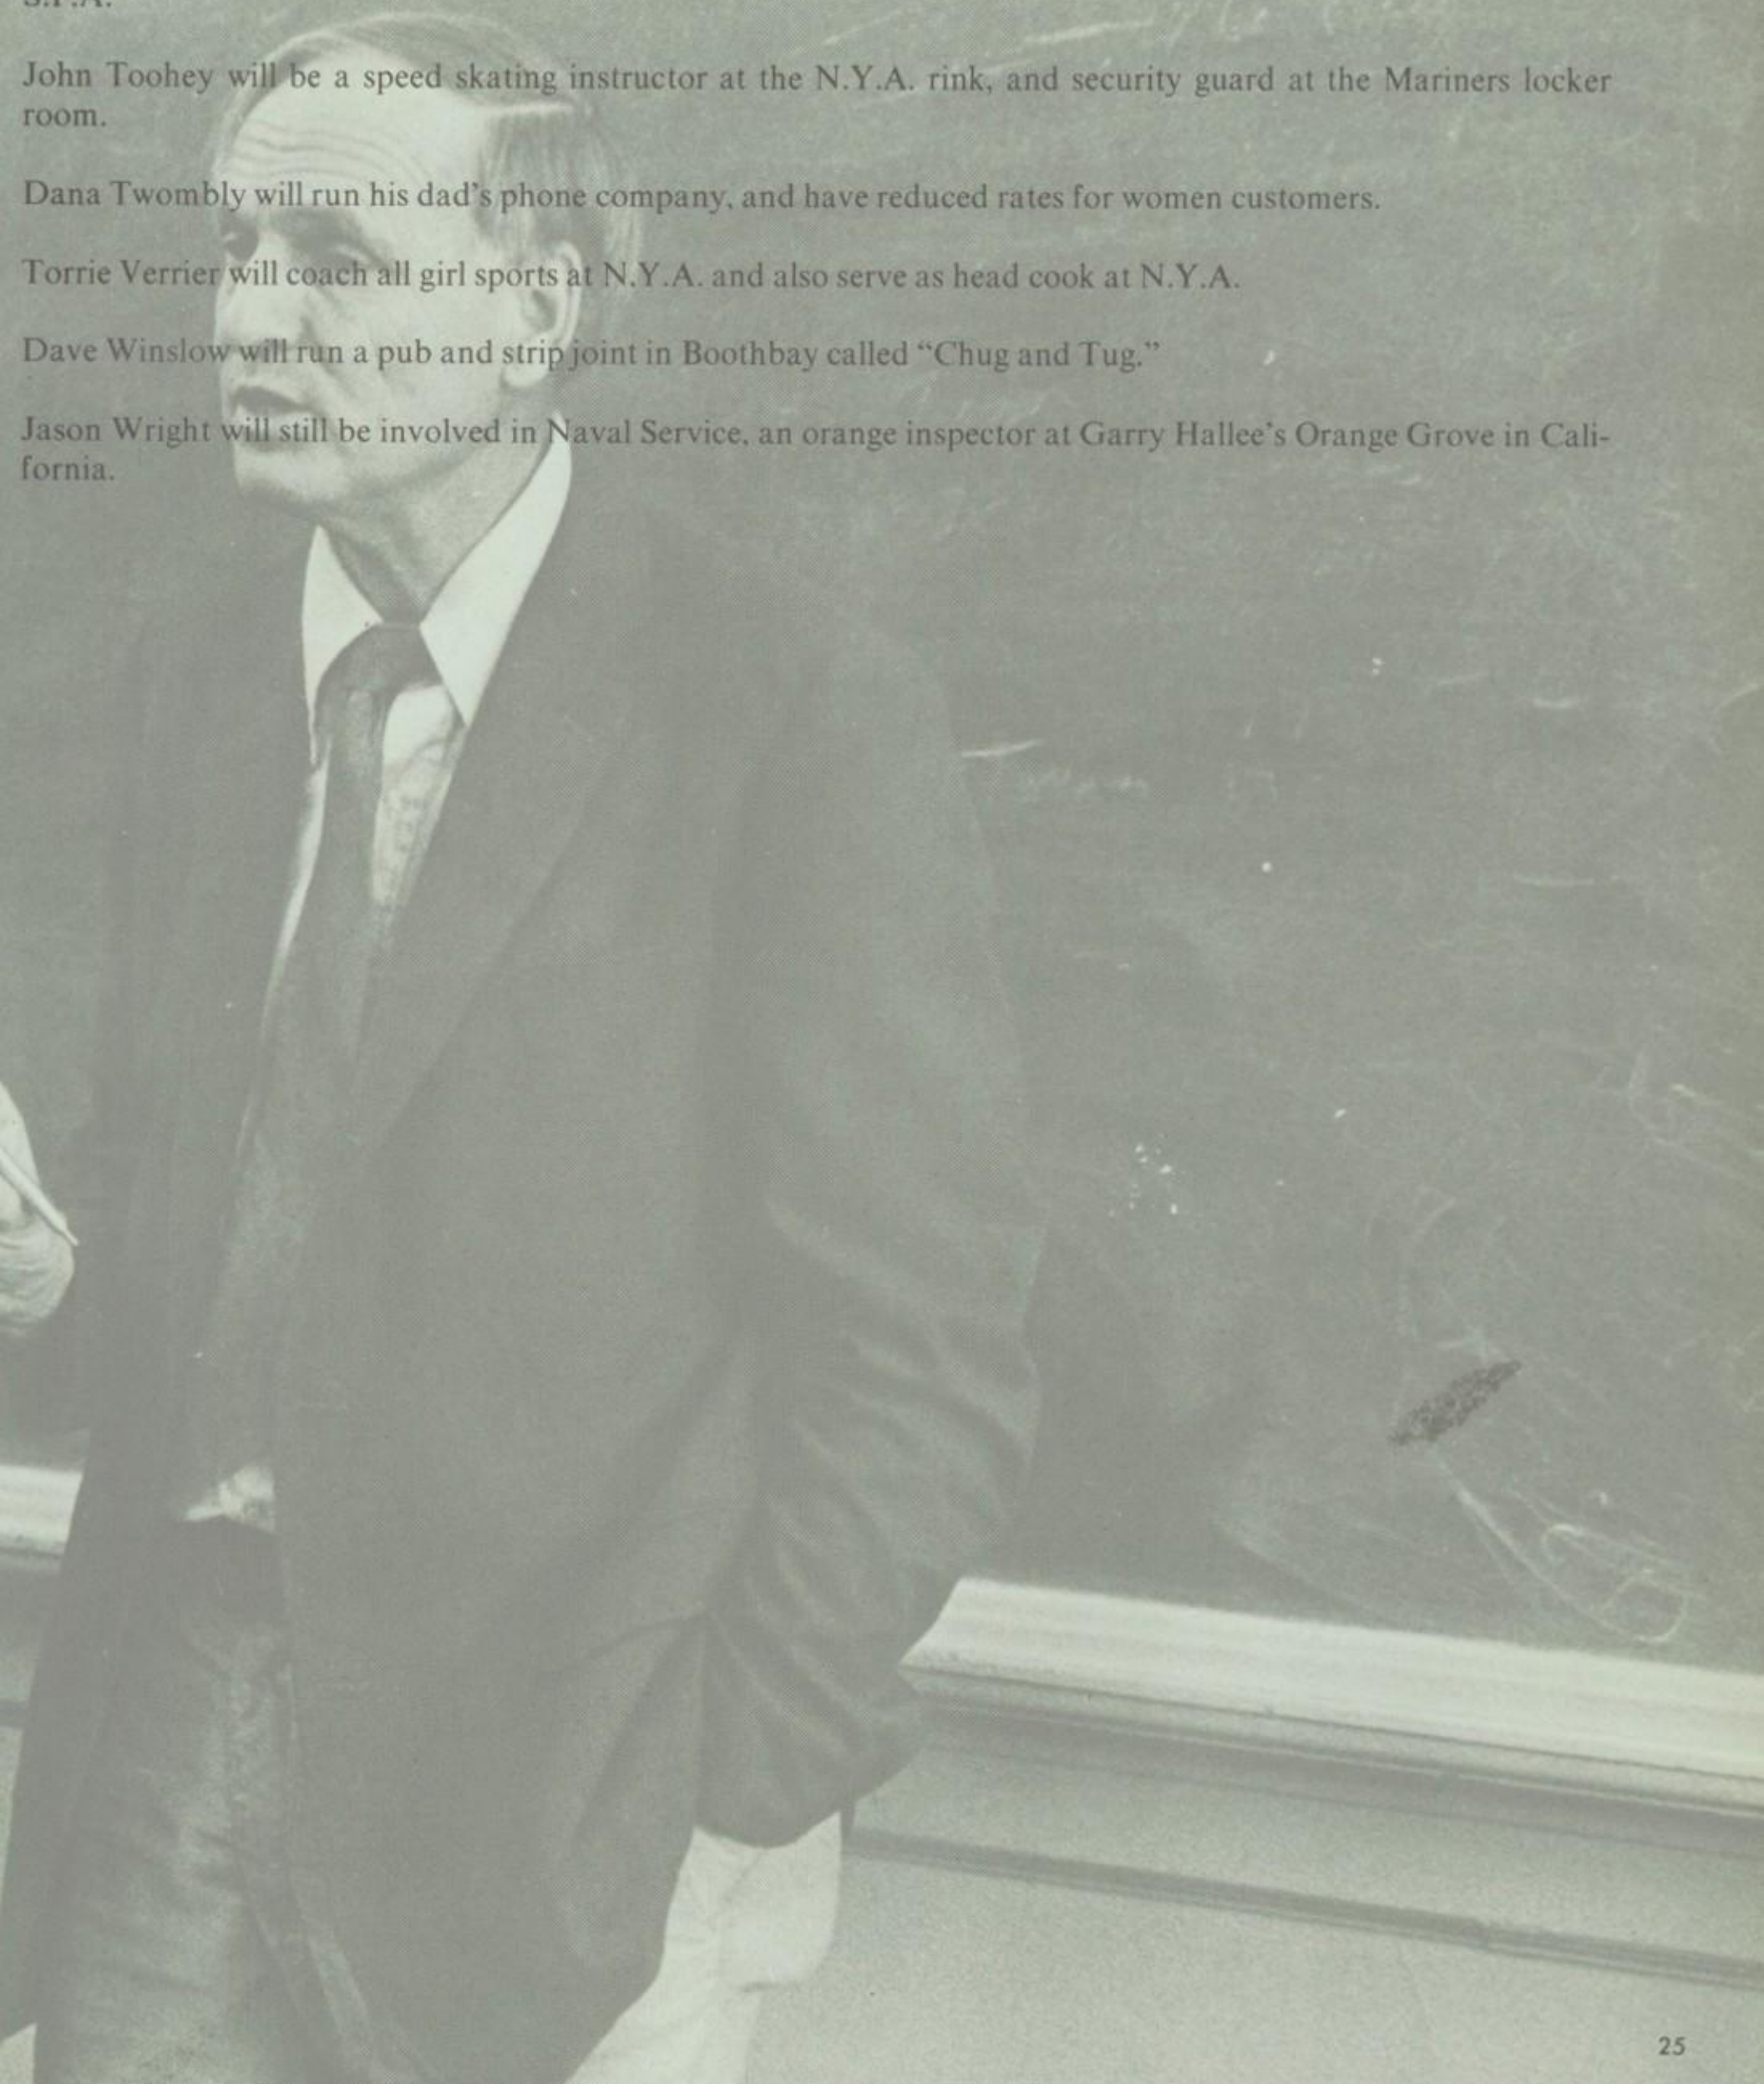

John Toohey will be a speed skating instructor at the N.Y.A. rink, and security guard at the Mariners locker room.

Dana Twombly will run his dad's phone company, and have reduced rates for women customers.

Torrie Verrier will coach all girl sports at N.Y.A. and also serve as head cook at N.Y.A.

Dave Winslow will run a pub and strip joint in Boothbay called "Chug and Tug."

Jason Wright will still be involved in Naval Service, an orange inspector at Garry Hallee's Orange Grove in California.

Power . . .

This year's varsity soccer team maintained its tradition of winning soccer teams at North Yarmouth Academy. After an inauspicious start, the team jellied into a contender for the championship, compiling a fine [3-4] record. After the completion of the regular season, N.Y.A. embarked on the playoff road winning big in the opening game [6-1] over Valley High School. We then traveled to Thomaston, where a good Georges Valley club beat us 3-2 in the closing minute of the game.

The team was directed all year by the fine leadership of Capt. Peter Rouillard and offensive standouts Ted Fava and Dana Twombly. Coming on in playoff were seniors Jason Wright, John Toohey, and sophomore Dan Mooers. Senior Dave Winslow handled the goalkeeping duties and underclassmen, Bill Alie, Matt Ambrose, and Steve Whittier will return a fine nucleus to next year's club. Greg Lovejoy, Dan Mooers, and Bill Alie will return as tri-captains of next year's club. Ted Fava deserves special mention as an all-state-forward for his second year as a Panther.

Varsity Cross Country

In Cross Country's first pre-season training practice at the end of August it was apparent that things were going to be very different for Cross Country in 1979. A new coach was greeted by numerous girls, middle schoolers, and upperclassmen all who had never run before, to make up a team of 20, the largest turnout ever. Among these 20 were 3 veterans, Fulton Oakes, Kitt Scarponi, and P. Y. Hildreth, who proved to be the core of the team during the season. Two pleasant surprises for Coach Hudson were newcomers Chris Zitnay and Dick Johns, elected co-captain during the season. These two, after getting into condition and used to pace, quickly improved and filled out the other two spots of the five scoring positions on the team. The depth of the team was its greatest strength and point displacement by the sixth and seventh runners often determined the outcome of the meets. These last two varsity spots were everchanging and were alternately filled by veterans Rob Goodbody and Captain Ben Pratt, who were plagued with injuries throughout the season, and newcomers Wells Hansen and Paul Dube. In the month of September inexperience, youth, and illness to Scarponi and Hildreth combined to make a record of 2 wins and 3 losses and a slow start for the team. In the remaining six weeks of the season the team ran off a streak of 6 straight wins, not including a scrimmage win over Yarmouth, before ending the season with a loss to P.G. powerhouse Hyde and an 8-4 record. In the MAISAD the team finished 3rd. Youth and inexperience in a big meet showed as poor performances kept the team out of the second spot by only a few points. With the loss of only Johns and Pratt, next years team will have a strong group of experienced runners and looks forward to a promising future.

J.V. and Girls Cross Country

Often the forgotten members of a Cross Country team are the lower runners, who have no separate schedule and during the season run as non-scoring participants of varsity meets. They work just as hard as the other runners but get little recognition. They are important though, as they make the practices more diverse, they push the varsity runners, and they add to team spirit. This years J.V. consisted of upperclassmen Tom Curran and Tod Brannigan, four upperclass girls mentioned below, and middle schoolers David Cote, Shep Husted, and Hans Bowder. These runners showed the great depth of the entire Cross Country program by turning in a strong performance at a J.V. MAISAD meet, coming in second only to a powerful Hyde squad. Next year many of these runners will be moving up to the varsity and be playing a more active role in the success of the team.

1979 was also the first year of a Girls Cross Country team at N.Y.A. This small but hardworking group consisted of Ley-An Martin, Diana Dietrich, Julie Fitzgerald, and Charlotte Smith. All four showed tremendous improvement during the season. In their five meets the girls only won one but the outcomes were determined by the quantity of the runners, not the quality. Both Fitzgerald and Dietrich placed up with the best of the opposing runners and with a couple of more runners to join Martin and Smith for team depth, the outcomes of the races would have been different. With no runners lost to graduation and the addition of some new runners, Girls Cross Country should do very well next year.

Mr. Hudson

Varsity Tennis

On first glance, a record of 4-7 would not seem to indicate a very successful season. Considering the youth and inexperience of the team and also the tougher competition, this team did quite well. Only three players, juniors Jon Soule, Tom Gross, and Captain Steve McNally, returned from last year. Thus over half of the team were rookies. These four new players were freshmen Chris Chabot and Kevin Wilcock, sophomore Mark Sardegna, and junior Ted Williams. As already mentioned the competition was stiffer as this was the first year that N.Y.A. belonged to the state-wide S.P.A. tennis league, a league in which there are no divisions according to school size as in other sports. Six out of the seven losses were against Hebron, Kents Hill, and Hyde, teams whose J.V. squads N.Y.A. has played in previous years. In these matches set scores were often 6-3 or 6-4, indicating that N.Y.A. does not have far to go to break into the win column against these three perennial tennis powers. Other matches were wins over Freeburg, St. Doms, and an exciting win over Gould which avenged an earlier loss on the first day of the season. In this win, both McNally and Soule won 3 set matches with 5-4 tie breakers in the final deciding set. With the new players showing good improvement throughout the season and with all players returning, next year should find N.Y.A. Tennis much more competitive in the S.P.A. league.

Mr. Hudson

Varsity Field Hockey

Although the Varsity Field hockey team had a disappointing record the progress and improvement throughout the season were immeasurable. They came from being eleven individuals on the field to a solid team that worked together and really started to click in the last few games. The defense is to be commended, and the forward line played well sporadically but had trouble being aggressive around the goal. The whole team deserves praise for maintaining an indefatigable spirit despite the frustration of their losses.

The record stands at three wins and ten losses; highlights being the two victories over Gould on penalty strokes and a cliff hanger loss to Waynelete in the last thirty seconds. Torrie did a stellar job in the goal and, the high scorers were Sharon St. Lawrence and Lynne Kaulback.

Prospects for next year are spectacular with all but one letterman returning and some outstanding potential from the J.V. players. It was a pleasure coaching such a great group of girls, and we all look forward to what I predict will be a spectacular season next year.

The 1979 Middle School soccer teams had successful seasons. The varsity team posted six wins, one loss, and one tie. Sean Carroll began the year as goalie and then moved to up-fullback. Jeff Morton, a linesman, took over the goal. The sweeper back was Eric Weinrich and the wing fullbacks were Matt Jeton and Halsey Hewson. Because of illness, one or another of these backs was missing for most of the games, and John Scribner filled in superbly. The wing halfbacks are the workhorses of this particular soccer formation, and we were blessed with a fine pair, Scott Farrell and Keith Russell. The starting line had John Fanning, Jim Skillings, Chris Beck, and Tom Dubail and Tom Henriques alternating.

The B-team did not have a very good won-loss record, winning only one game. However, they learned skills, played hard, and maintained fine spirit throughout the season. Scott Link in the goal played with abandon.

J.V. Hockey

Coach Matt Corkery led the J.V. Hockey team to a season of six wins, seven losses, and two ties. The best game in the 1979-1980 season was held Feb. 23, where N.Y.A.'s J.V. team skated to a 4-4 tie. The leading scorers were Gib Palmer, Scott Holdsworth, and Chris Johnson along with Rick Bellavance. The Most Valuable Players were Gib Palmer and goalie Kevin Wilcock. Mr. Corkery commented that he had an excellent season and the team improved every day on all aspects of hockey skills.

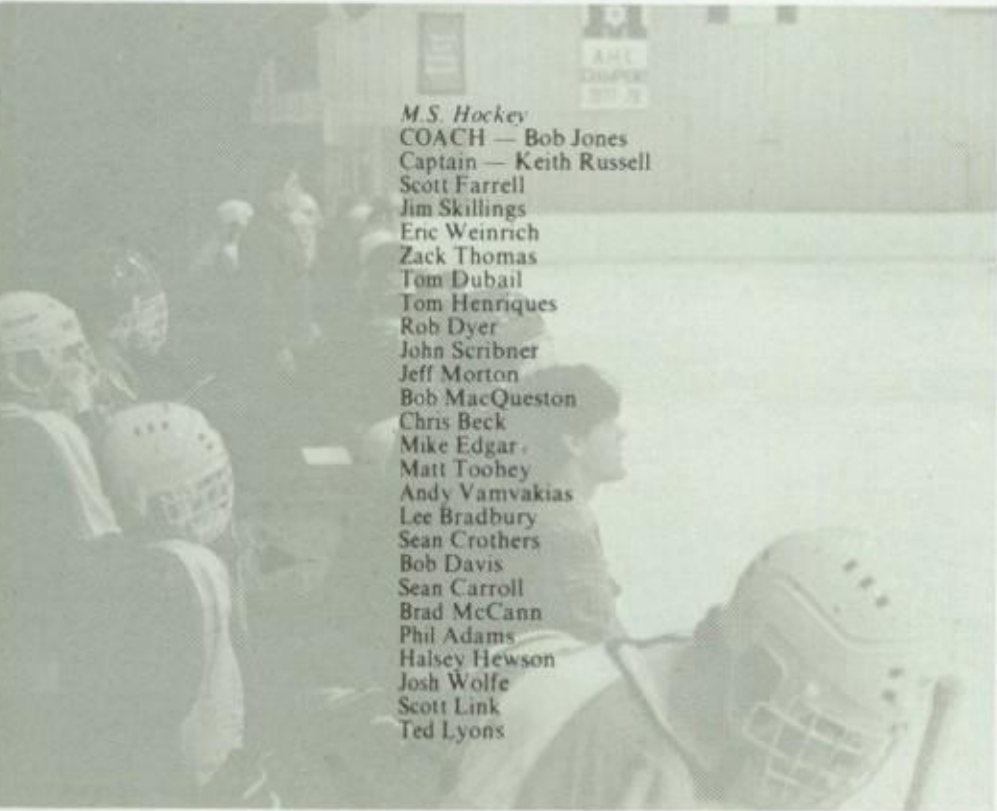

The 1979-1980 J.V. "B" hockey season ended with a record of eight wins, two losses, two ties. Coach Hudson commented that the most outstanding game was against Cape Elizabeth. We tied Cape the week before and then came back, and beat them 6-1. The highest scorers were Mark Kemper, Tom Gross, and Dennis Hudson. The team showed marked improvement, and although the record was a mediocre one, 8-2-2, it was the best record for a hockey team this year.
